Lines running out of St. Louis last year were re-enforced by one or more steamers and then found that they had all they could do. So remarkable has been the demand for river transpertation this spring that an excursion steamer has been pressed into service to remove a large shipment of grain. It is the Hill City, which is now being loaded at P. P. Williams's elevator. Firteen hundred tons of grain will be its cargo and Vicksburg, Miss., its destination. Of all the railroads running out of East St. Louis none could at present find cars enough to take the shipment. Rivermen assert that the owners of the Hill City took

GRAND JURY REVEALS THIRD STREET VICE BUSINESS ALONG RIVER

Complaints of Business Men in | Steamers Running Out of St. Louis Wholesale District Lead to Investigation.

PROFITS FOR LANDLORD.

Immoral Places Thrive Under Cover of Decency and Plans Are Discovered for Enlarging District.

The Grand Jury yesterday afternoon heard testimony which it is believed will connect a man well known in North Third street business circles with the charge of leasing property for immoral purposes. The investigation will continue to-day.

Circuit Attorney Folk a few days ago re-

Circuit Attorney Folk a few days ago re-ceived from the president of a North Third street business house a letter giving him information which he placed before the Grand Jury. The Circuit Attorney's in-formant was careful enough to give the names of witnesses, the numbers of the houses leased and other knowledge which, if true, would prove to be strong enough to indict the offender.

The Grand Jury decided to act upon the matter, and the witnesses were summoned. About twelve men connected with North Third street business houses were sub-poensed.

In the letter to Circuit Attorney Folk, the person who first gave the information stated that the man who was leasing the property openly boasted that he was making considerable money out of the business; in fact, that he was clearing more out of these immoral houses than he was from his legitimate business.

The latter also stated that the proprietor invited men engaged in business on North

The latter also stated that the proprietor invited men engaged in business on North Third street similar to that conducted by himself, to visit the places; that he had just opened two new ones and would open more for the Werld's Fair. It was also stated in the letter that the man had allowed employes in his North Third street business house to visit these immoral resorts and spend money there.

house to visit these immoral resorts and spend money there.

The Grand Jury, after hearing the witnesses yesterday afternoon, decided to summor the women who are said to be running these immoral places for the man who furnished them. It is stated that the women get a salary for conducting the place.

Information was obtained which shows that the owner or lessee of these places puts a price on the heads of young girls brought to the houses, as is charged against the Soviner brothers, who had the North Twelfth street place. It is said as high as 1300 had been paid.

To-day the Grand Jury will resume investigation of this immoral business, and it is not improbable that an indictment, if not more than one, may be voted before night.

INSURANCE COMPANY'S COURSE CRITICISED

Federal Court of Appeals Decision Adverse to Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association.

REFUSES TENDER OF PREMIUM

Opinion Written by Judge Thayer Holds That Thirty-Day Notice of Assessment Runs From Time Policy-Holder Receives It.

A decision of much interest to insurance omnanies and policy-holders was handed down in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday in the case of Thomas Ferrenbach, executor of Jacob Lambert, vs. the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association of New York. Judge Thayer wrote the opinion, which was concurred in by Judge Caldwell. Judge Sanborn filed a dissenting

The evidence was to the effect that Lambert, a well-known St. Louis citizen, had insured with the company on April 5, 1883, and had paid premiums up to 1839 amounting to $2,655.85. On May 3, 1899, he tendered his annuam premium to the St. Louis agent of the company, who refused to accept it unless he would submit to another medical examination.

As he was then more than 70 years old,
Mr. Lambert refused to undergo the examination, and the company declared his polination, and the company declared his policy void.

He sued to recover the amount of the premiums already paid. While the suit was pending he died, and his executor. Ferrenbach, was named plaintiff in his stead. The trial court returned a verdict for the insurance company, and the plaintiff appealed.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE POINT.

ASSESSMENT NOTICE POINT.

The main question to be decided by the Court of Appeals was as to the construction to be piaced on the clause in the contract in the policy referring to the notice of assessment due from the policy-holder.

The clause set forth that assessments were due and payable within thirty days of the date of notice of such assessment.

The company based its refusal to accept payment of the premium tendered by Lambert in May, 1829, on the ground that it had not been tendered within the thirty days stipulated, and that the plaintiff had violated his contract thereby, and that the policy was legally null and void by reason of such breach of contract.

The evidence showed that the notice of the assessment was mailed from New York on March 23, and reached St. Louis March 31, Sunday.

On May 1, Lambert's representative went to the office of the company to pay the premium, but found that the office had moved, When he located the agent on May 3 payment was not accepted, because Lambert would not comply with the agent's proposition for a re-examination.

Judge Thayer held that the "notice" of assessment, calling for payment within thirty days of the date of it, should be construct to mean knowledge or information of such assessment on the part of the policy holder, and not the mere piece of paper containing such notice.

Under such construction, the thirty days within which such assessment hecame due should be calculated, not from the date on which such document was written or mailed, but from the date it was received at the ordinary post office address of the policy holder.

To prevent forfeitures of policies, in cases where doubt arises on questions such as transportation, the boats leaving the wharf being loaded with hundreds of tons of car-go over the amounts usually carried. Railroads at present are experiencing a great shortage of cars. The commerce of the country, it is thought, is growing so fast that the waterways are again being pressed into service to transport goods.

To prevent forfeitures of policies, in cases where doubt arises on questions such as the one at issue, it has been the policy of the courts to give the insured the benefit of the doubt. COMPANY IS CRITICISED.

COMPANY IS CRITICISED.

"The conduct of the company," Judge Thayer says, "In attempting to get rid of this risk in the manner and under the circumstances as indicated herein, cannot be viewed otherwise than with disfavor, and its construction of the provisions of the policy and the by-laws of the company in rejecting the policy, is contrary to the law and to fair business dealing."

Judge Sanborn, in his dissenting opinion, dilates at great length upon the legal definition of the words "notice" and "date" in the clause of the contract providing for the payment of the assessment within thirty days of the notice of such assessment. He holds that the "notice" means simply the paper or document, and that the date refers only to the time marked upon it. refers only to the time marked upon it, namely, the day of the week or month. CONTRARY OPINION.

CONTRARY OPINION.

He holds that the "notice" sent out means simply the piece of paper, and not knowledge or information conveyed by that paper. Hence, he holds that the thirty days should be calculated from the time the paper is dated or mailed, and not from the time it is received at the ordinary post office of the insured.

Again, he says, that even granting that the date should be calculated from the time the notice is received, the evidence shows that it was received at the post office within the thirty days, but payment was not tendered until the stipulated time had expired. The payment was then overdue and the policy, according to contract, was null and void.

later. Captain D. M. Connors, business manager of the Lee line, is enthusiastic over the prospect of river business in the future. "It has been picking up for two years," said he, "and more so than ever this spring. We put on an extra steamer before the season closed last year and it is probable that if the trade keeps on increasing the way it has been the last couple of weeks we will have to put on another. EVERY BOAT HAS BIG LOAD. "Every boat leaving the harbor at pres-DOCTOR HUGHES IS SELECTED. Named by Secretary Hay as Dele gate to International Congress.

EVERY BOAT HAS BIG LOAD.

"Every boat leaving the harbor at present is loaded to the guards. If it were not for the fact that we have very high water at present we could not carry as much goods as we have been carrying. So great has been the trade from the South this spring that it has encouraged us to deliver goods as far South as Vicksburg and Greenville, Miss., and even to Lake Providence, La., which towns were abandoned long ago by our company."

John E. Massengale, traffic manager of the St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet Company, said:

"We can't deny that the river trade is again in a very prosperous way. Last year we added two steamers to our line, the City of Savannah and the Shiloh, and now we have all we can do to attend to the traffic offered us. The City of Savannah departed Wednesday with 1,000 tons aboard for the South. An average load in the past has been 150 tons. This will give an idea of the increase in river transportation this spring. We have six steamers running out of St. Louis, and have all we can attend to." Doctor Charles H. Hughes has been hon ored by receiving the official appointment from Washington from Secretary Hay as physician delegate for St. Louis to the four-teenth International Medical Congress, which will be held this year at Madrid, Spain, from April 24 to 39.

Professor Jordan argued that the 2850-clation should receive permission to immediately set about collecting the exhibit. He explained that to make such a display as was expected of them would take a great doal of time and to have it well balanced it would be unwise to delay action. He said:

"We have sixty-five schools to be heard from, located in every corner of the country. The Philippine Experiment Station also will be included, as will Porto Rico, Hawaii and Samoa, It will be seen that a great deal of work is ahead of us and to insure a successful display I suggest that we go about it at once."

Chairman Brigham stated that under the act making the appropriation it is necessary for the Exposition Company to provide a building for this exhibit, and accordingly a letter was prepared requesting the local corporation to act at once, so that the exhibit could be collected and installed.
